Scope Widens For June Folk Festival

Public Hearing Set For UR Plan

A public hearing on Cameron's proposed Urban Renewal Plan will be held June 16, at 7:30 p.m. at Methodist Fellowship Hall in Cameron.

The public hearing was called by the City Council at the request of the Cameron Urban Renewal Agency, and is a requirement for approval of Part II of the plan.

Part I application for the renewal project was approved last month by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) at Fort Worth, with an August 17 deadline of submission of Part II application.

Part II is the plan for execution of the Urban Renewal Program, land purchase, relocation and construction.

In addition to the public hearing, or "town meeting," Part II requires a second appraisal of buildings involved in the project and an outline of relocation possibilities for businesses in the area slated to be torn down.

The hearing will be open to all persons and organizations in Cameron, and everyone will have an opportunity to be heard. Proposals of the UR Agency will be open for discussion at the meeting.

Urban Renewal Agency officials will be present at the hearing, along with representatives from Bernard Johnson, Inc., engineering consultants, City Councilmen, and Mayor.

Fete Promises Talent, Beauty

A STAFF REPORT

This is the magnitude of Cameron's June 12-13 Folk Fete:

ONE--Six ethnic dance groups.

TWO--Three professional musical groups, two others.

THREE--A pageant of 130 years of Milam history.

FOUR--A downtown parade.

FIVE--A pilgrimage of five Cameron homes or mansions and garden party.

SIX--Beauty pageant and Folk Fete Belles.

SEVEN--An art show and ethnic food booths.

EIGHT--Civic club booths, puppets, drama.

NINE--Austin Cactus Pryor to MC June 13.

TEN--Costuming for pageantry, dancers and musicians whose count is hundreds.

This may capsule Cameron's first entry into the Texas festival movement, which was heralded in New Braunfels eight years ago and now attracts upward to 100,000 people in 10 days.

On a budget now totaling $19, co-chairman Mrs. Perry Holder Wednesday outlined what may be the start of an extraordinary community experience for Central Texas. She addressed Cameron Rotarians.

According to schedule, Folk Fete includes:

ONE--Ethnic dance groups of Czech, German, Negro (modern) Western, Mexican and Italian. Chairman of the groups or sponsors are:

Western, Mark Towery; Italian, Mr. and Mrs. Logan Wilson of Bryan; Mexican - American, Miss Mary Lucy Barcenes; modern, Mrs. Carrie Milligan and Mrs. Dan Bradley; German, Charles Kunz; and Czech, Mrs. Frank Mikulec, all of Cameron or Milam County.

TWO--Musical groups including the "Spine Cultures", the "Buffalo Angels", Red River Valley Boys, the Vrazel Polka Band, and the modern "Funkadelics."

THREE--At least 200 Cameron School students in a pageant of Milam history covering the years 1744 to 1875, directed by its author, Miss Mary Belle Batte.

FIVE--A public pilgrimage of five Cameron homes: Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Newton, 902 E. Eighth; Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Dodson, 702 E. Seventh; Miss Lois Randolph, 309 E. Seventh; Miss Clara Thomas, 502 E. 12th St.; Mr. and Mrs. John B. Henderson, Sr., 410 W. Fourth. Garden party is on the grounds of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Thomas.

SIX--Beauty pageant with representatives from Buckholts, Thorndale, Milano, Rockdale, Calvert, and Cameron. Folk Fete belles in ante-bellum costume will be introduced prior to the pageant of ethnic representatives from each community, directed by Mrs. Coy Arledge, of Cameron.

SEVEN--An art and handcrafts show including the works of cowboy artist-sculptor James Brock and numerous entries at Cameron Public Library, directed by Mrs. Lester Williams. Food representative of the various groups will be sold at booths under the direction of Col. L. W. Stroup.

EIGHT--Local civic clubs are planning booths, supplied by Boy Scouts of America, in which materials or items of Folk Fete interest will be presented or sold. Six student puppet shows under the direction of Mrs. L. W. Stroup will be presented, after a successful presentation at Temple's CAC Festival.

NINE--Master of Ceremonies Cactus Pryor will MC the main program at Yoe Stadium which features the dances of the six ethnic groups.

TEN--Costumery is being developed by dance group members, if not already available, to be authentic representation of the native group. It is one of the first Texas presentations of the six or seven, counting antebellum Belles designs, groups at one festival.

Credit goes to the following for backup and pre-Fete committee leadership:

RHS Names Top Seniors

Russell Chupik, with a four-year scholastic average of 96.45, will be valedictorian of the graduating class. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Chupik of Rogers.

Margaret Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Green of the Cyclone community, is salutatorian. Her average for four years is 93.50.

Cass Named To Assist S&S Supt.

Attention turned to "housekeeping" affairs at Tuesday's City Council meeting, with appointment of an assistant superintendent for garbage collection and discussion of street work.

Council also set a date for a public hearing at the request of Cameron's Urban Renewal Agency during the meeting. (See related story, this page.)

Malcolm Cass, long-time employee of the City Sanitation Department, was appointed by the Council and Mayor E. A. Perrin to be in charge of the city's garbage collection.

Residents with collection problems or requests will call the same number, 697-2001, however they should ask for Mr. Cass rather than the street superintendent, James Hale, Mayor Perrin said.

In other action, the Council accepted a motion that from now on, residents who want work done by City equipment on private property, such as obtaining a load of gravel, must submit a written request to the Council for such work.

Mayor Perrin complimented the street committee for its comprehensive report on condition of City streets, and added that repair of holes will be the first item to be taken care of.

Moms To Bake For Little League

We are soon to see the day when college students are again to be treated as the youth they are. Since their judgement is overvalued by the administrators and professors of many universities and colleges, the parents and people who provide the means, the taxes, the scholarships are going to call Junior home.

And if he sides with a 25-year-old revolutionary who may be a parttime student or no student at all, he may have to stand alone.

There is something intrinsically wrong with this student rebellion. Perhaps it is because it is going nowhere in a burst of flame, incantation and vituperation.

It is a waste of energy, a waste of property and now a waste of lives.

NOW-NOW-NOW

No one is smarter than a college freshman unless it is a high school freshman or sophomore. No one is more esily taken in than a sincere, intelligent college student rankled by the injustice of this world and his inability to do anything about it through term papers and debates.

But these are precisely the reasons he goes to college. He is there to see how little he knows and how little he will ever know.

And if he examines closely the young revolutionaries who lead these campus rebellions, he will find them least equipped of all to make some real contribution, other than to "make history" with anarchy.

NOW-NOW-NOW

If things were that bad in this country, and they are not, these revolutionaries would be succeeding. By their own admission they are accomplishing little, except after Kent State, the certain death of others who lead this reaction and those unfortunates who may follow.

Cameron's summer Little League program gets underway Friday, May 22, with the first games matching the Hustlers and Lions in Minor League and the Indians and Yankees in Little League.

First game of the season for Pony League will be when the Cameron Marroons meet Thorndale in Thorndale June 1.

Although 150 boys have signed for the 1970 summer baseball season, League officials warn that the future for the program in Cameron is dim because of rising costs.

The summer program in the past has been financed through the operation of a concession stand at the local ball park and through a nominal fee for registration of players. This year League officials faced rising costs of equipment, insurance for the players, in addition to the immediate need for a supply of uniforms.

So, while their sons practice, mothers will give the program a financial boost by baking for weekly bake sales to be held each Saturday beginning immediately and scheduled through the season.

The bake sales will have a permanent location with one stand in front of Culpepper's and Ben Franklin's, and the second in front of Schiller Pharmacy. Sale will begin at 11 a.m. each Saturday.

Fredwill Hornung, president of Little League, said "This summer program for the young men and boys in our community has proved to be a very valuable one that teaches team spirit, cooperation, sportsmanship, leadership, and provides a nightly activity for local young people and adults. We hope the community will support these fund raising projects to insure continuation of Little League."

Mrs. Dian Wolfington is chairman of League Auxiliary and Mrs. Betty Wickersham, secretary. Fund raising chairmen are Mrs. Fredwill Hornung and Mrs. Gene Smitherman. Anyone wishing to assist in this year's program is asked to contact any of these individuals.

School Sets Schedule For May

Thursday, May 14, will be a holiday for Cameron Public School children. It is the annual observance of Yoe Day noting the gift by the late Mr. and Mrs. C. H. yoe of the high school and original campus.

Cameron schools will close Tuesday, May 26, for the summer holidays and report cards for Cameron Junior High and Yoe High School will be mailed to students homes May 27.

Supt. D. R. Dodson said the mailing system would be used rather than having students report back to school as in previous years. Report cards for 1st through 5th grade students will be distributed at the close of school May 26.

Dodson also announced the following graduation schedule:

Baccalaureate 8 p.m. Sunday May 24, Yoe Field;

Cameron Junior High graduation 1 p.m. Monday, May 25, CJH gymnasium;

Yoe High graduation, 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 26, Yoe Field.

Rogers School Dist. Equalization Board Sets Tuesday Meeting

Mrs. Jack DuBois, of Cameron, has joined the Herald staff as news assistant to Mrs. Bess Jeter, city editor.

Mrs. DuBois in the mid-'50's owned and managed a Cameron welcome service and in recent years worked in insurance and real estate. Her husband is manager of a Cameron service business.

Mrs. DuBois will be handling general and social news, according to Frank M. Luecke, Herald edotor-publisher. She is a graduate of Yoe High School and has previously worked in the Cameron ASCS office.

Emergency Care Aids 227 Families

County Judge O. B. Harden said this week that $5581.26 has been spent on the Emergency Food and Medical Care program in Milam County since it was initiated in December, 1969.

The federal program was activiated to check malnutrition in 26 Texas counties through medical attention and supplemental diets.

Basicly the program provides for purchase of fresh foods such as meats, vegetables and fruits in addition to the surplus foods alloted to low income families and individuals.

Medical services include medicines for vitamine deficiencies and visits to the doctor.

Mrs. Nona Miller, program administrator, said 227 families and 1408 indivuduals have received the additional aid since December.

She said each reported need for the program is seen first hand and assistance provided within program guidelines.

"So far it's worked very smoothly, I've had no problems," Mrs. Miller said. "It is a temporary service rendered to people who need help. A family or individual often will need help only once," she said.

Members of the program's County Advisory Committee are Judge Harden, School Supt. D. R. Dodson, Dana Kestenbaum. County appointed members are Rev. J. E. Lafferty, Jack Smith, Mrs. Horace Cavanaugh, Henry C. Hill, Albert Timmerman and Mrs. Dora McCasland.

Judge Harden said anyone who needs assistance should contact hi

You Don't Say . . .

BANALI

if you are pronouncing it buh NAAL or BAN ul.

BANAL (BAY nul) is correct and means "meaningless from overuse", as: words and phrases which have lost their effectiveness because of overuse.

Genral misuse of words often leads to acceptance as second and third choice but the person who speaks his English proudly, KNOWS his words and uses them with an assurance and charm which are undeniable.

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

"FROM HERE"
...it appears our world needs a lot of 'fixin up'." Too often, too many of us do our day-to-day job in a half-hearted way. We lose our perspective... our relationship to the world. We get to feeling our importance. Right there is our un-doing. When a man loses humility, he is on the way out. This man, with his wrench, looks at the world from way up. He wonders if he did his best on the foundation underneath him... if the high walls will support the structure he is atop. Both are basic to good building. The church, too, is necessary in the building of character, in the transforming of souls. It will help us greatly in the training of people to help fix our world. It will make good stewards of us who will be more anxious to share the fruit of the vine. So let us attend church or Synagogue every week. Let us, in earnest, help this man 'fix up' our world.
You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker and attend services regularly.

CHAPTER HONORS FOUNDERS

Beta Nu Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma held its final meeting of the school year, Saturday, May 2, at 2:30 p.m., in the home of Mrs. Alma Doss of Rockdale. The Rockdale members were hostesses for a tea.

The society celebrated Founders Day with a memorial program given by Mrs. Carol Souther and Mrs. Grave Clark. Mrs. Souther led the program as Mrs. Clark showed slides of the founders and members read brief biographies.

Beta Nu officers installed for the next two years were Mrs. Geneva Hughes of Marlin, president; Mrs. Gwynn Range of Marlin, first vice-president; Mrs. Peggy Clark of Rosebud, second vice-president; Mrs. Irene Kosel of Burlington, recording secretary; Mrs. Martha Royal of Rosebud, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Helen Ligon of Lott, treasurer.

Mrs. Maxwell welcomed Mrs. Opal Grusendorf of Marlin and Mrs. Beryle Carter of Rockdale as newly elected members. She reviewed her two years as president of the chapter and expressed appreciation to all members for their co-operation in the work of the chapter.

During the tea hour, Rockdale High School students Judy Parmelee and Lynette Bayless presented music.

The next meeting will be Saturday, September 12, in Rosebud, for a breakfast at 8:30 a.m., with the Rosebud members as hostesses.

'The Generation Gap' Club Discussion

The last meeting for the year of the Pleasure and Profit Club was held on May 7 in the home of Mrs. Herbert Nance, hostess for the evening.

Mrs. J. A. Looney, President, presided over a short business session. Minutes of the last two meetings were read and approved and Treasurer's report given.

The program was presented by Mrs. Cornelius Titsworth. A paper on "The Generation Gap." This gap, she stated "is always with us, and must be solved by parents and the youth in their time.

Today's youth needs and wants a moral code, a personal faith that is a challenge. Family ties, unity, understanding and love; these can narrow the generation gap." This was a most interesting and informative discussion.

Mrs. Burkes commended the program committee for their well planned and interesting programs for the Club's year and asked the members to give this committee a standing vote of thanks for a job well done.

Mrs. O. G. Chamberlain, vice-president the past year presented the president, Mrs. J. A. Looney, with a gift from the Club, expressing thanks and gratitude to the members for her leadership of the Club.

Mrs. Looney remembered her officers with gifts of appreciation for their services in the Club for the past year.

Mrs. Nance served a delicious congealed fruit salad, with party crackers, cookies and coffee. Members present 16. Club adjourned by repeating in unison the Club Collect.

GARDEN CLUB TO MEET TUESDAY

Fleur de lis Garden Club will meet Tuesday, May 12, 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Dan McDaniel. The program will be on table settings and arrangements to fit the occasion.

Three tables to be displayed are: Brunch, Luncheon and Picnic.

Beef Short Ribs Provide Robust Meal For Young Athletes

Any mother of teenage sons is constantly on the lookout for nourishing main dishes to feed her boys after workouts on the tennis court or outdoor track. Good foods like beef short ribs, navy beans and molasses will score with any appetite.

According to meat expert Reba Staggs of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, slow braising is the best method of cooking beef short ribs. The high quality protein and hearty flavor of beef coupled with beans provide a nutritious and delicious climax for a energetic day.

Beef Short Ribs—New England-Style

3 pounds beef short ribs
1 pound dried navy beans

5 cups water
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
3 tablespoons chopped onion
1 can (29 ounces) tomatoes
1 tablespoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ cup molasses

Add water to beans, bring to boil and boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat and soak 1 hour. Drain, reserving 1 cup liquid. Combine beans, mustard, onion, tomatoes, salt and pepper. Mix well. Cover tightly and cook slowly 2½ hours. Brown short ribs on all sides in own fat over low heat in covered frying-pan for 1 hour. Pour off drippings. Add molasses to beans and mix well. Add to short ribs. Cover tightly and continue cooking 1 to 1½ hours or until meat is tender and beans are done. 6 servings.

EXPO '70: FESTIVAL OF SIGHT AND SOUND

NEW YORK (ED)—When the world gets together on March 15 in Osaka, Japan, there's bound to be a festival of sight and sound. EXPO '70, the first world exposition to be held in Asia, is a completely futuristic look at the sights, sounds and experiences of tomorrow.

A journey through the Tower of Sun will either heighten, or satisfy your curiosity about the housing of tomorrow. Noted architects of today have designed complete cities of the future—most are computerized, and your imagination will play a big part in completing the suburban setting of tomorrow. The sights of EXPO '70 are architectural firsts, and as far out as some seem, it may not be too long before some of the shapes become commonplace in our daily lives.

Sound picks up where design ends, but in several cases it merely becomes an extension of design. A young Osaka sculptor has designed "Floating Sound"—six white boats that will float on the pond surrounding the Symbol Area. The boats produce unusual, humorous sounds by utilizing the forces of wind and water, and represent man's innocent and natural instincts.

The unique effects of "moving" sound are put to use both inside and out at the Pepsi-Cola Pavilion, "World Without Boundaries." Seven dome shaped floats will move serenely around the area in front of the Pavilion. The domes will intermittently emit sounds, and back away when lightly touched. Inside "World Without Boundaries," sounds related to materials like grass, wood, stone and lead will be one of many sensory experiences the visitor will have.

The far more normal sights and sounds of music and entertainment will be on stage with international talent performing daily. But even here, the visitor may choose between sounds he is familiar with, or the more exotic and unknown from nations around the world.

Man's future may be a little mysterious and unknown in many ways, but EXPO '70 presents an exciting look at tomorrow. If man could number his achievements, the Japan World Exposition would be high on his list.

Colorful "Tower of the Sun" will give the visitor a view of what's in store for the future.

Sound is one way to communicate, and in the Pepsi-Cola Pavilion, "World Without Boundaries," the seven moving domes are only part of the sound experience. Inside, the Pavilion is literally wired for sound as visitors experience different sensory impressions.

Academia's Double Standards . . .

Some Harvard professors have advised the White House this past week they are going to make public their protest of President Nixon's move into Cambodia.

Reports say, they had agreed to keep their criticisms off the record for a time. But the Cambodian move has removed an inhibition on withholding public criticism, they say.

This is fine. Isn't it wonderful what the Establishment of the East has condoned to stir. . . .and disrupt. . . .and burn. . . . and pillage? An infinitisimal minority within a minority traces 1964 beginnings to Che Guevara, Cuban revolutionary killed in South America two years ago, and gathers widening support on college campuses although they admit no substantive revolutionary gains, other than disruption of higher education in the United States.

We shall read with interest what these professors contend. . .particularly in light of the pointless truths the disruptives make, the alternativeless minutia which commends anarchy to a segment of our brightest youth.

We hope they recommend return to academic standards on college campus, residence requirements for students, rather than encouragement of parttime students with time on their hands. We hope they recommend examination of freshman motivation in American higher education, to find out if Junior or his sister are there to study or there because it's the "thing to do" or because their parents want him or her to have more than they did or want him or her, regardless of motivation or ability, to be a doctor, a teacher, a professional.

We hope they find no dishonor in work if there is no dishonor in challenging inhibited administrators of their campus responsibilities. We hope they find immoral the disruption of a higher system of learning if they find Cambodia involvement or a decade of Vietnam battle immoral.

We hope they realize their own double standards are at stake, as well as those of society outside cloistered Ivy Walls.

Numerous educators long since abandoned objectivity, if that ever is possible. We hope they recognize more than 98 percent of the population is abandoning a sense of accomodation for a sense of outrage.

Ableness Still In Vogue . . .

There is great encouragement in the Gallup Poll's latest survey. It showed that 86 percent of Americans polled felt that ability, not luck, was the key to success in life. This was a healthy 7 percent higher than 30 years ago.

These findings are significant. They show that people grasp that the course of success in their lives starts within them. Despite the circumstances of neighborhood, social ties, color (most blacks, the poll showed, also thought ability not luck the more important), or religion, the individual can better himself. Even young adults, whose discontent with older ways gets such notice presently, agree their fortunes will be measured by their ableness.

We of course believe all should be done that can be done to help the general lot of citizens. The government and all organized groups should press on to relieve poverty, improve schools, drop bars based on sex or age or color, even the lingering prejudices against certain nationality groups.

But it would be a mistake to think that the progress of individuals must wait on the advance of the group. Group-centered thinking usually is limiting. Intelligence to act and think rightly has nothing to do with a group. It wells up independently and spontaneously in the individual. And it can always lead him to better his own lot, and in so doing show the way for others.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Paralytic polio is still a disease to be reckoned with, but history has shown that the disease can be eradicated by a comprehensive immunization program, says the Texas State Department of Health.

Before the vaccines were available, polio was a disease to be lived with. But with the coming of vaccines, and their acceptance by the people and the medical profession, the decline in paralytic polio has been dramatic.

Research in this field had been underway for years before the development, first, of inactivated poliomyelitis vaccine, licensed in 1953, and then of live oral polio-virus vaccine, licensed in 1961.

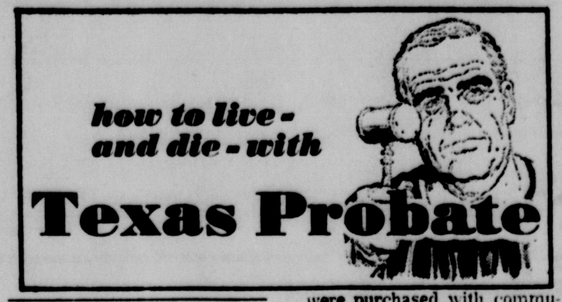
Because of the availability and general use of effective polio vaccines, the epidemiologic pattern of poliomyelitis in the United States has changed markedly.

In 1955, for example, there were 14,850 cases of paralytic polion and 1,053 deaths in the United States. Eleven years later there were only 108 paralytic cases and seven deaths. This decline is directly related to mass immunization programs throughout the country.

But what of the incidence of the disease in Texas?

During the last 10 years the number of paralytic cases has fluctuated from a high in 1962 of 186 cases to a low in 1969 of only six cases. Total number of cases in this period was 485. In 1966, when Texas had 73 reported cases of polio, the Lone Star State had two-thirds of all cases (106) in the United States.

The Texas State Department of Health has led the fight against polio and pushed constantly for immunizations. During the 10 years from 1960 through 1969, the Health Department distributed almost six million doses of vaccine.



This is a condensed version of one of 10 chapters of a 21-chapter book, "How To Live—and Die—With Texas Probate," copyrighted by the Gulf Publishing Company. NUMBER 7
WILL SUBSTITUTES—JOINTLY OWNED PROPERTY
ORIGIN

Many people believe that an ideal method of owning property is "joint tenancy with right of survivorship," that is, putting the title in the names of husband and wife so that on the death of either one the property will be owned automatically by the other (referred to in this article as "joint ownership").

Joint ownership is not a new idea. In early England, the purpose of joint ownership was to avoid feudal tenures, the forerunner of present day death taxes.

Shortly after World War II the idea of joint ownership was rediscovered in Texas. Many thought that this was a completely new idea created to do away with probate. Many misconceptions about it and its uses came about, and its limitations and disadvantages were often overlooked.

THE SIMPLICITY of joint ownership has always been appealing; this convenient and inexpensive method of passing property is available today in certain situations under Texas law. It is not fair to say that property should never be held in joint ownership; neither is it accurate to say that all property should be held in joint ownership.

GOVERNMENT BONDS

Frequently U.S. bonds are registered in two names. A common method of registering such bonds is "John Smith or Mary Smith" (husband and wife).

A problem often arises if John or Mary dies. Do half of the bonds pass under the will of the one who died or do they all belong to the survivor named on the bond?

After conflicting court rulings in the several states, including Texas, the U.S. Supreme Court held in 1962 that the survivor named on the bond became the owner of all at the death of the other.

IN THIS case (which came from Texas), a husband and wife had purchased bonds with funds they had accumulated during marriage — U.S. bonds worth $87,035.50. In her will, the wife gave her property to her son. In a suit between the husband and the son to determine who owned the bonds, the U.S. Supreme Court held that the bonds belonged solely to the husband.

In another case the husband had purchased bonds worth $18,000 and registered them in his name and the name of a daughter by a prior marriage. After his death the daughter claimed the bonds were hers.

In a suit seeking half of the bonds, the surviving wife claimed that her husband had used funds accumulated during their marriage to purchase the bonds. The wife failed to prove her claim and she lost.

WHEN A U.S. savings bond is registered in the name of two individuals as co-owners, either may cash it in without permission of the other.

Such bonds are not a part of the probate estate of the first to die and are not liable for payment of the estate debts.

There is no estate tax or inheritance tax saving in using joint ownership. If the bonds were purchased with community funds and registered "husband or wife," half the value of the bonds will be taxed in the estate of the first to die. If they were purchased with separate funds, the full amount will be included.

In both cases, the survivor will pay an inheritance tax (to Texas) on the deceased spouse's share.

BANK ACCOUNTS

Most of the claims concerning joint ownership have involved bank accounts. All this trouble indicates that most people do not understand the difference between an agency account and a survivorship account.

To avoid confusion, the term "joint account" should never be used. The terms "convenience account" (also called "agency account") and "survivorship account" should be used to distinguish between the two different type accounts.

A HUSBAND and wife cannot own property acquired during their marriage in joint ownership because of our community property laws.

Points relevant to bank accounts also apply to stock registered in two names.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Animal In The Road

Driving through a suburban neighborhood, a motorist noticed a dog in the road ahead, gazing intently at something in the distance. Assuming that the dog would get out of his way, the motorist kept right on going.

Unfortunately, the dog failed to move until the last moment, too late to escape sudden death under the car's wheels.

Could the motorist be held legally liable for killing the dog? A court ruled that he could indeed. Pointing out that the motorist had enough time and enough space to swerve, with no danger to himself, the court said he had no right so heedlessly to snuff out the dog's life.

As a rule, a motorist must show a decent concern for dogs and other animals in our streets and highways. This does not mean, however, that he must take precautions that would inhibit normal driving practice. Consider this case:

A motorist approaching a farm saw several turkeys by the roadside. Just as he drew near, one of the turkeys scuttled out in front of his car and was struck down.

In short order, the farmer sued the motorist for damages. He argued that, since the turkeys were in plain sight, the motorist should have slowed down—just in case. But the judge held the motorist not liable, saying:

"I do not believe the law imposed upon him the duty of slowing down so he could immediately stop, just because one of these turkeys might take a notion to cross the road at an injudicious moment. Highways are not built for animals or fowls to stray in."

Of course, the motorist is even less to blame if the accident was simply not within the range of foreseeability. Another man was making a wide turn to enter his driveway one night when a neighbor's dog dashed unseen out of the darkness. The dog suffered fatal injuries, and his owner duly demanded damages on the theory that the car was on the wrong side of the street when the accident occurred.

But a court denied the claim, because the location of the car was not the real cause of the dog's death. The court said it was unfair to blame the motorist for an accident he could not have either foreseen or avoided.

Note Evolution 'Theory', Textbook Publishers Told

Evolution must be presented "as a theory rather than as a fact" in seventh grade life science textbooks, publishers were told by the State Board of Education.

Meeting on May 4 in Austin, the board also asserted that literature books should be "kept clean," recalling that some books had to be edited last year.

A call was issued for textbook bids in several subjects, including seventh grade life science and high school literature.

The books will be used in Texas public schools beginning September 1, 1971.

Books to be submitted by publishers across the nation will be reviewed by members of the 1970 State Textbook Committee, also appointed Monday. New texts will be adopted by the Board on November 9.

Each seventh grade life science text will carry an introductory page statement noting that "any material on evolution included in the book is presented as a theory rather than as a fact," the board said.

Literature texts will also be reviewed to make sure they do not contain any "language blatantly offensive or language which would cause embarrassing situations in the classroom or cause interference in the learning atmosphere of the classroom."

In other action, the Board:
--Increased the per capita support for local school districts from $114.40 to $117.65 for each student;

--Approved a revised Texas Education agency budget with a $25 million jump in funding for Federally supported vocational programs.

This increase represents the Texas slice of the total Congressional package. Last August, the funds were estimated at $125 million. However, the actual appropriation totaled $150 million to be allocated to Texas.

The revised budget is for the Federal fiscal year which ends June 30, 1970. However, a few of the programs will be funded through August 31.

This increase extends aid to local school districts in addition to amounts previously approved.

The approximate $6.5 million increase for vocational education is directed largely at established programs for the handicapped and disadvantaged, but will also make some new ones possible.

Special assistance under the national school lunch program was raised by $4.4 million, enabling schools to serve more free meals and be reimbursed at a higher per meal rate.

In a typical 12-month period, CARE helped build 163 schools for 22,000 children and equipped 940,000 pupils with writing supplies. Funds came from contributions to the CARE Self-Help Program.

Johovah's Witnesses Assembly May 15-17

Organizational arrangements have been completed for the next Circuit Assembly for Jehovah's Witnesses on May 15-17 in Seguin, Texas.

Seguin High School is to be used for the occasion and upwards of 1,000 delegates from Cameron and surrounding area are expected to attend the sessions.

Mr. Durwood Herbelin the presiding minister of the local congregation said, "The Assembly is not a revival, but is held primarily to advance Christian Bible Education."

"Declare the Good News with Persuasion," will be a talk and demonstration by Mr. Harrell Green of Cameron.

The featured speaker on the program appearing daily will be Mr. E. R. Brandt, from Jehovah's Witnesses World Headquarters in Brooklyn, New York.

The public is invited to attend.

Polio Immunizations Prove Importance

Polio cases on a national scope now occur primarily in un-immunized children in the lower economic groups rather than affecting all ages and socio-economic groups. In fact, Texas has more than 200,000 newborns every year. Close your eyes to immunizations for just five years and you have more than a million children in the one-through-five age bracket who may be susceptible to polio.

Number Down; Output Up!

An estimated total of 2,895,000 farms will be operated during 1970. That is the lowest number since 1870 and represents a decline of 2.6% from 1969; 27% from 1960. For the past 35 years U.S. farms have declined in number. Yet, because of modern production efficiencies, today's fewer farmers produce more food of higher quality for more people. The rate of increase in agricultural productivity over the past 20 years has approximately doubled that of nonfarm industry.

Thursday Sewing Class Reflects Community Service In Action

Look in on the sewing class sponsored by the Young Women's Circle of the 1st United Methodist Church and you'll see 'Service in Action.'

The meetings are every Thursday from 9 to 12 a.m. at 1110 N. Central in a building donated by Dusek Brothers.

The class started 5 years ago in the education building of Primera Iglesia Bautista Church with a minimum of supplies. The downtown sewing room now includes 9 sewing machines, pattern racks, storage, fitting rooms and cutting tables.

A play area with toys is available for children while their mothers sew.

Now the class has broadened to include monthly programs on a variety of subjects such as cake decorating, book reviews, informative talks on birth control and health, a program on the public library and on making furniture.

Miss Christine Laws and Mrs. Jacquline Ware, County HD Agents, are instructing the class on how to make furniture from low cost materials. Individuals have made book shelves of boards and bricks, sturdy clothes closets of heavy cardboard boxes and an assortment of cabinets and chests.

The mother of one family that had lost all family furnishings when their truck overturned on the way to Cameron, has made chests of drawers from fruit crates. It means a new beginning for her family.

Enthusiasm is high. Willie B. Clark said "I couldn't even cut when this class started. Now I'm sewing for others."

'Others' means sewing for children who will be in the head start program this summer, and making clothes for graduating students. The group will also be sewing for themselves and their families.

Community support for the class has come from many directions. Hensley Russell has provided material for the seamstresses; Schiguts supplied patterns that fill several shelves in the sewing rooms.

Mrs. Don Humble said they are always in need of trims, zippers and patterns for their sewing program.

The group usually includes 10 or 12 sewers each week. Regular helpers are Mrs. Humble, Miss Mary Yoe, Mrs. Lucille Nichols, Mrs. John Henderson Jr. and Mrs. H. J. Swink.

Materials for the Thursday Sewing Class were donated by Hensley Russell, Inc. and the sponsoring Young Women's Circle of the 1st Methodist Church. The class is also working on graduation dresses for several Cameron 8th graders.

Parents On Trial Is Club Program

The Pleasure and Profit Club met April 30th with Mrs. Roy Hensley as hostess. The president, Mrs. J. A. Looney, presided over the business session. The following officers for 1970-71 were elected: president, Mrs. J. A. Bowling; vice-president, Mrs. Walter Lester; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Virginia Schuhsler; reporter - historian, Mrs. E. J. Burkes.

Mrs. H. M. Yager presented a review of "Parents On Trial" Why Kids Go Wrong Or Right, written by David Wilkerson. As his work is among the youth of today, Mr. Wilkerson has attempted to find the answers of why so many of our youth go wrong. He became director of Teen Challenge, an organization that tries to rescue the dope addict and make him a contributing member of society.

Curiosity, ignorance of dope's effects, the challenge of acceptance by a crowd or gang, to escape the realities of life, exploitation and victim of circumstances are reasons offered by the youth as to why he takes drugs. Parents are urged to watch for any tell tale signs that may show their child is using a drug of any sort.

What makes for success against the inroads of narcotics was aptly quoted as a formula, "that if a young man lives straight - practices three things, and sticks to them, he is bound to succeed. These three things are thrift, hard work and old fashioned honesty."

Parents are to realize that these are our children, wrong -- or right! Ten ways to produce a juvenile delinquent are - keep your children out of sight and silent; hound them to be at the top of their class in school; if you can't or don't take your children to church, don't bother to send them; have your fights in front of your children; don't be too interested in your children's friends; demonstrate your love for your children with material things; set a bad example so the children will not want to grow up to be like you; refuse to believe it when you are told your children have done something wrong; don't be too tough in disciplining your children lest they hate you for it, and never discuss the facts of life with them."

In contrast let us listen to the teen ager himself as he tells us some positive tips.

1. "Keep your cool,"
2. "Don't get hung up on a jag that keeps you away from home."
3. "Don't get strung out."
4. "Bug me a little."
5. "Don't blow your class."
6. "Light me a candle."
7. "Take the world off my shoulders."
8. "Scare the hell out of me."
9. "Call my bluff."
10. "Be honest with me."

Thus the teen-ager begs of his parents - to understand.

A delicious salad plate with iced tea was served to 15 members and two guests, Mrs. W. E. Kuehl and Mrs. C. W. Coufal.

The last meeting of the club year will be Thursday, May 7 at the home of Mrs. Herbert Nance.

Fresh Fruit Leads Good Food Buys

Watermelons are showing up in retail stores but the prices remain relatively high, reports Gwendolyne Clyatt on this week's food market.

Mrs. Clyatt is an Extension specialist in consumer marketing information at Texas A&M University.

Pricewise, grapefruit, oranges, pineapples, apples, strawberries and avocados are good fruit choices, she says.

Carrots and head lettuce are economical vegetable choices. Cabbage, cooking greens, dry yellow onions, radishes and green onions also are good.

Many markets are featuring fryers this week. Turkey prices are generally steady though some specials are available on 10-14 pound birds.

Typical of spring, large grade A eggs are better value by weight. Prices on both the medium and large sizes have edged up a couple pennies this week, but eggs remain an excellent protein value, Mrs. Clyatt notes.

Beef prices are about the same as the past few weeks.

Margaret Green Competes In UIL

ROGERS

Margaret Green, a senior in Rogers High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Green, is in Austin this weekend participating in the State University Interscholastic League meet. The school learned that she won first place in the regional meet at Kilgore two weeks ago in readywriting.

FUND BURSES PRESENTED

St. Monica's Ladies Society met Tuesday evening for their regular monthly meeting.

A report was given by Mrs. Charles Chandler on the Austin Diocesan Council of Catholic Women convention which was attended by 127 ladies.

She told of the workshop on community affairs and church liturgy.

Two completed clerical endowment fund burses of $8000, each were completed during the past year and presented to Mrs. Louis J. Reicher of Austin. A new burse is being started in honor of Father Geiser of Cameron.

Mrs. Harold Moore, president, thanked the chairman and workers that helped with the 'Spring Festival.'

The society will have a booth serving German food at the Cameron Folk Fete in June.

Members voted to donate to radio free Europe, Madonna Plan, and the Temple V.A. Hospital.

The meeting closed with a prayer by Father Geiser.

VISITORS FROM GEORGIA

Houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Magre this week are Mrs. Magre's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Auzat of Columbus, Georgia and her aunt, Mrs. Harter of California.

Child-Proof Your Child's Room

Or make beautiful music (right) with a wallcovering mural, in the clear colors with strong child-appeal. To define the bunk area, pick up a color from the mural print and wrap it around the sleep-shelf in solid-shade Wall-Tex; it will stand up to the inevitable kicks and scuffs much better than paint. For seating-storing-stacking, do-it-yourself with 12" and 18" cubes, covered in the same washable, wear-able vinyl. A child's eye is attracted by the smashiest, splashiest colors, so mix and match at will, from the primary palette.

Where you must use paint, make it high-gloss enamel; a child-proof room must be washable. Then set your child loose in a setting so enchanting he'll be happy to keep hands-off company quarters!

TJC Lists Area Grads

STORY PROFILES 'HIDDEN' WOMAN IN VP'S LIFE

NEW YORK

She's only five feet tall, has streaked hair, wears miniskirts, bakes one of the best pies in Washington, and for the last year was considered the intelectual heavyweight on Vice President Agnew's staff. A few weeks ago, Cynthia Rosenwald quit her job as Special Assistant to the Vice President in charge of speech-writing and research, pleading exhaustion.

Mrs. Rosenwald, who her colleagues say will have to be replaced by four college men, is the subject of a special feature in the current PAGEANT Magazine.

Her capacity for work is legendary. Not only did she write and research all of Agnew's speeches herself, she argued the subject matter with him until they had hammered out the line he would take.

A loyal co-worker says, "of course it's always the Vice President's ideas she's giving," but others who have heard their working sessions say the Vice President tended to do a lot of listening.

According to the PAGEANT feature, Mrs. Rosenwald found great satisfaction in her job, but displayed signs of growing uneasiness about her family responsibilities and health until finally she left.

The loss is a great one for Agnew. "He needs her," says a colleague. "She has the ability to make him feel uncomfortable when he's taking an inflexible viewpoint. There's a creative closeness between them. Cynnie does more than write words--she knows history, and she deals with ideas and philosophy. She's tough on him and he takes it from her, and only her, because he knows she's devoted and loyal and that in the end she'll articulate his views."

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED FOR ROGERS PTA

ROGERS

The Executive Committee and Committee Chairmen of the Rogers Parent Teacher Association held their last meeting of the 1969-70 school year in the junior high school library Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Edwin Psencik, outgoing president, had charge of the meeting.

Reports were given from various committees concluding the work of the year.

Mrs. Psencik gave the gavel to the incoming president, Mrs. George Richards, who presided during the report of committees for the 1970-71 PTA year. The budget report of Mrs. Wilbur Jackson was approved, for a total of $1,601.50. Mrs. Milton Wendler's outline of programs for the six regular meetings of next year was adopted.

May Draft Call is 834 For Texas

AUSTIN

The May draft call for Texas is 834, and no man will be selected and ordered for induction with a random sequence number higher than 145, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Friday.

The May quota is down from 940 in April, which has been filled with men having random sequence numbers no higher than 115.

The state quota for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in May is 5,828, down from 8,442 in April. Men sent for these examinations will be limited to those with random sequence numbers 1 through 215.

Deferred or exempt men, such as teachers, college students, and vocational or trade school students, with random sequence numbers 1 through 215, may be forwarded for these examinations if they are likely to lose their deferred or exempt status during the next six months, Colonel Schwartz said.

No men with random sequence numbers above 215 will be forwarded for examination until further notice. Men born in 1951, who have no random sequence numbers, also will not be called now for this purpose. A drawing probably will be held in July to establish the numbers for the 1951 group.

All volunteers at the draft boards must be inducted ahead of the non-volunteers selected and ordered to report for induction by random sequence number.

The Texas induction quota of 834 for May is the state's share of a national call for 15,000 men, all for the Army.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to each of you who gave us religious and moral support during the illness and loss of our loved one. Also for the beautiful flowers, food and the many cards. May God bless each of you.

Simulated and actual flight training is accomplished at Carswell and maintenance personnel receive ground instruction on components such as the bomber's new Mark IIB Navigation/Bombing equipment and the highly sophisticated Terrain Following Radar system. The latter permits the aircraft to approach targets at a level that eludes detection by any known radar.

Sergeant Davis is a 1966 graduate of Buckholts Rural High School and has served in Vietnam.
